MacKillop's Melbourne

This week we celebrate the feast of St Joseph the Worker. It's seems appropriate, then, to reflect on the early life of an Australian woman who found the foster-father of Jesus such an inspiring figure that she named her congregation, the Sisters of St Joseph. Pope John Paul II declared Mary MacKillop "Blessed", or a local saint, on 19th January 1995. Many Australians, and not just Catholics, are hoping that the Blessed Mary MacKillop will be made a Saint of the universal Church sometime soon.

Young At Heart

This week is the Buddha's birthday, and for many years, now, the Vatican, on behalf of all Catholics, has been conducting dialogues with every major religion in the world, looking for the values and ethics that bind us together, rather than divide us. This film focuses on the message of hope and peace the Dalai Lama preaches especially to the young people of the world. The words of the Dalai Lama find a resonance and an encouragement to all people of good will, who are searching for the truth.

Touched By The Light

This week we join the world in marking the UN’s International Day for families. One of the major obstacles to a happy family life for parents and children is undiagnosed and untreated depression, which can lead to suicide. This moving film from Albert Street Productions looks at the story of six families and how they have coped with the heartbreak of youth suicide, and what the Church is doing about it through the Sisters of Charity Suicide Prevention Program.

The 20th May is East Timor’s Independence Day. In this film, from Albert Street Productions, we remember some recent martyrs who gave their life in East Timor in solidarity with their persecuted people, by defending the rights of the poor, or for simply trying to bring healing and peace to others. It shows what Caritas Australia is doing to support the East Timorese in their partnership programmes.

Edmund Rice – The Quiet Revolutionary

Edmund Rice was born in Ireland on the 1st June. He founded two orders of brothers, one of which, the Christian Brothers, cares for young people throughout the world in the educational, welfare, and pastoral projects they run. In this film, which was made just before he was beatified, or named Blessed, we learn about him, his brothers today and the lay people who have picked up the baton passed onto them from Blessed Edmund Rice.
