

SEEKING CATHOLIC COMMENT?

The Australian Catholic Bishops' Conference today announced the appointment of Debra Way as National Communications Officer.

The Bishops' Conference is a permanent body of Australia's Catholic Bishops, currently headed by the president, Archbishop Francis Carroll of Canberra-Goulburn.

It comprises Bishops' Committees on a wide range of important and newsworthy issues from Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander affairs to refugees, social justice and welfare.

The ACBC is also home to researcher Dr Warwick Neville, who is well known and respected for his expert advocacy on matters relating to ethics and legislation, most recently in the debate on the destructive use of embryonic stem cells for research.

Effective immediately, Debra Way, an experienced journalist, will be available to handle routine media inquiries regarding the Catholic Church and put reporters in touch with the appropriate spokesperson on any issue.

If you have any further inquiries, please contact Debra at the ACBC on (02) 6201 9859 or media@catholic.org.au. Or if you would like to see the actual document released, click here.
